

SCHOOLYARD

Amalya Kalbstein gets ready for a great year in kinder at Bialik.

Warm welcome at Bialik

TO help parents say goodbye to their first-time kinder children, Bialik College hosted a scrumptious morning tea on the Sunday before school started for more than 100 people.

There was delicious food, a balloon artist and face painter, before parents and children toured the kindergarten's award-winning facilities.

This year, the early learning centre will continue its successful Dogs for Life program, as well as build on the relationship the kinder children have created with students in Israel's Arava region. Regular Skype conversations and the sharing of drawings and letters enables Bialik's kindergartners to experience the life of their Israeli friends.
