

Shaving for a Cure

AT Bialik College's annual Shave for a Cure, the school raised more than $8000 for the Leukaemia Foundation, exceeding the school's target for the year.

Students from the primary, middle and senior schools were involved in the initiative as many opted to shave their heads or get their hair sprayed with colour to give back.

Year 11 student Joey Kahn, who just returned to school after battling with the leukaemia, shared his personal stories, with many inspired to donate after hearing his remarkable positivity.

Micci Schneider shaving for a cure at Bialik.