

Grandparents help students make a meaningful Shabbat tablecloth

BIALIK COLLEGE

Towards the end of term 2, Bialik's Primary School and ELC hosted a grandparents' tea.

During the event, grandparents and special friends of students years 2-4 were invited to join their grandchildren in their classrooms for a very special activity, in which students and guests drew pictures and wrote messages of hope and love onto a piece of fabric.

The fabric swatches were collected and sewn together to create gorgeous Shabbat tablecloths – one for each year level.

The tablecloths will be placed in a box, along with other items (such as candle sticks and a challah) to create an "instant" Shabbat kit. Families will be able to take the kit home and enjoy a beautiful family Shabbat together.

At Bialik College, we value the contribution that family and community make in the lives of our students. We believe our students can learn so much from the older generations, as we are certain they did when they came together to produce these magnificent tablecloths. We are sure that the Shabbat boxes will be yet another way for families to come together and make precious memories.
