

Bialik's prize pair

WITH Bialik College's excellent VCE results, the school had double reason to celebrate after year 12 students Ruby Bouhadana and Jordan Sandler were awarded The Kooyong Student Prize last month.

The prize is given to students enrolled in the Kooyong electorate who are nominated by their school for excellence in academic and extracurricular pursuits, leadership among peers and a strong commitment to upholding school values.

"It's very humbling and really lovely to sometimes get that sort of recognition," Bouhadana told The AJN.

"It's definitely a big achievement ... Jordan and I were really proud of each other," she said.

While Bouhadana was part of the school leadership body, Sandler is known for his ability to help out where needed within a variety of different roles at school.

Sandler told The AJN he "initially didn't know what the award was, but after I found out exactly, I was humbled they [the school] nominated me for it".

Pictured is Jordan Sandler receiving the award from federal Member for Kooyong Josh Frydenberg.