

Luka Federman (left) and Archie Rosenberg enjoying the drawings and messages from Gan Tamar kinder children in Israel.

Bialik's littlest kids love Israel

KINDERGARTEN children at Bialik College have developed a modern day pen-pal relationship with fellow children in the Arava in Israel.

Communicating through Skype sessions, drawings and electronic presentations, the kinder kids at Bialik and at Gan Tamar and Gan Saliit in Israel learn about each other's respective cultures and have a chance to bond over their similarities and differences.

The program, which is aimed to teach the children about life in Israel, also hopes to foster a strong bond with Israel and a shared connection with people on the other side of the world.