

Changing the world at Bialik

FOR the year 7 cohort at Bialik College, this term will focus heavily on tikkun olam as part of their year-long bnei mitzvah program.

The students started off the term by hearing from inspiring social action activists, including Jess Burns, Lenny Gross, Debra Korman and Adele Stowe-Lindner, who all shared their tips on making a difference.

The students will also visit community organisations as a means of hands-on engagement with people and initiatives.

Having already visited Emmy Monash Aged Care, the cohort will also help out at Gary Smorgon House, Munzer Home and the Posh Opp Shoppe.
